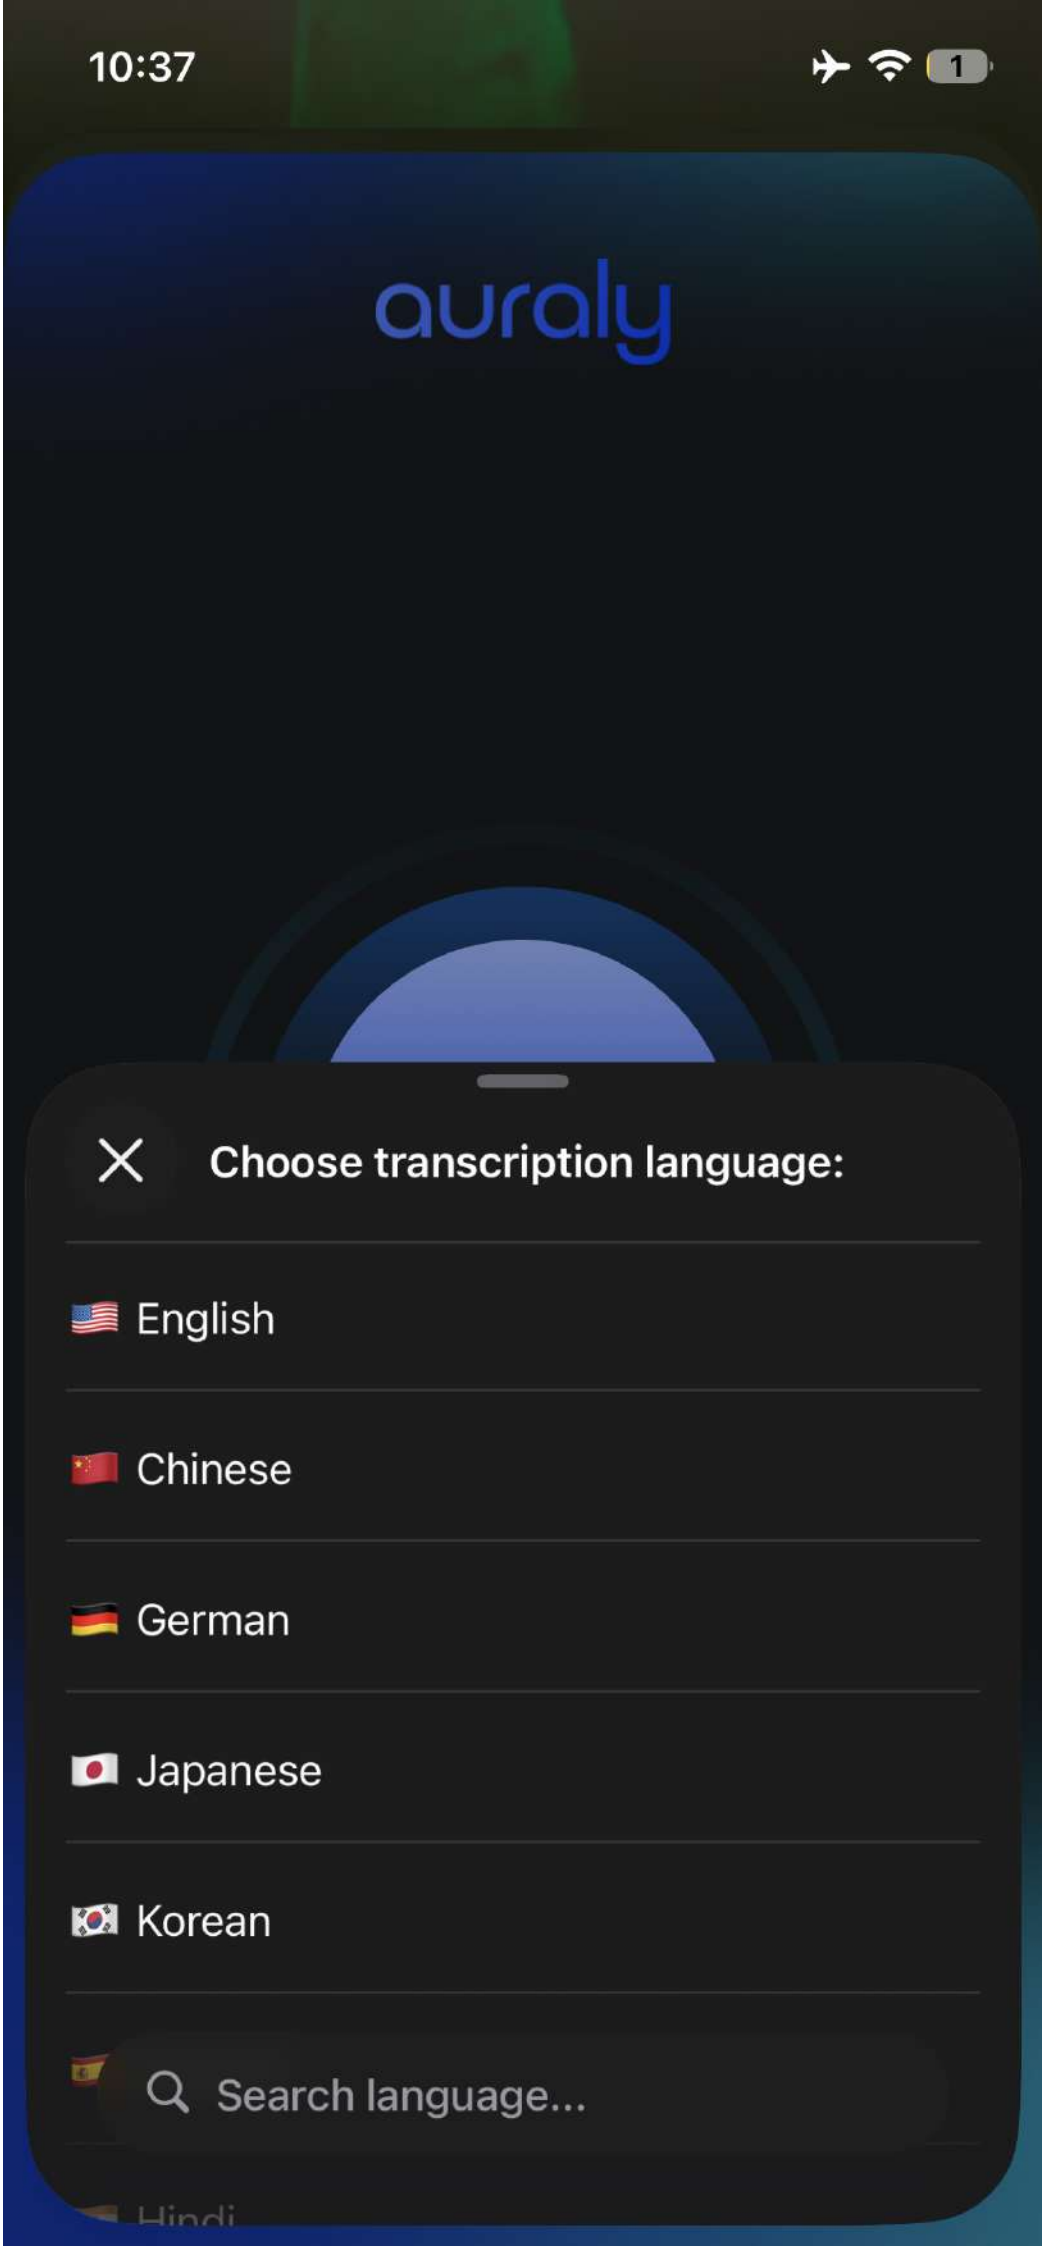
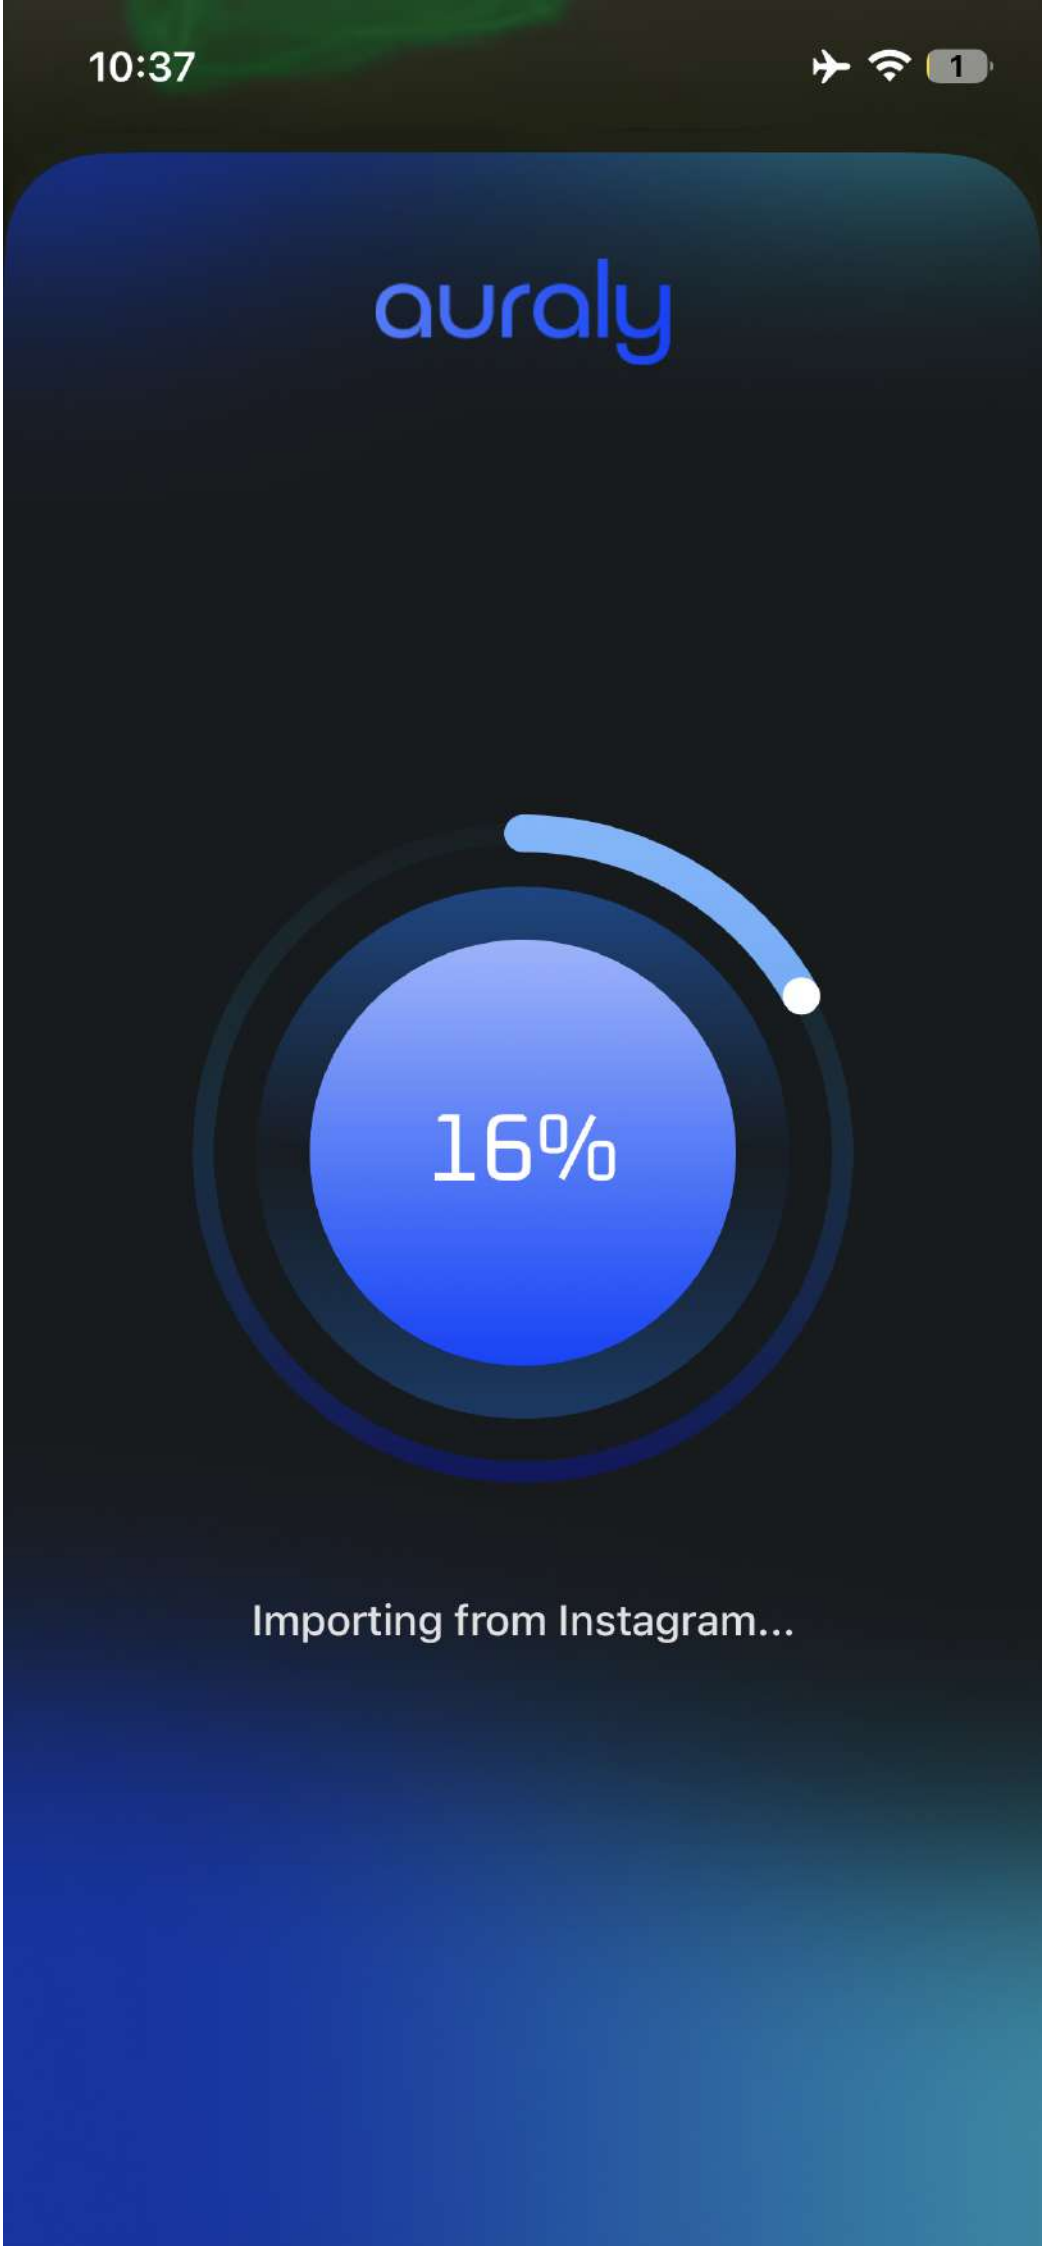
11:51
43
Reels
Friends
IIT clear ho gya
Reel from cgc_dates
instagram.com
Snapchat
Drive
Auraly
More
Copy
Add to New Quick Note
Open in Chrome
More



10:37
auraly
Choose transcription language:
English
Chinese
German
Japanese
Korean
Search language...
Hindi



10:37
auraly
16%
Importing from Instagram...

10:38

📌 Summary

A lighthearted and slightly awkward interaction occurs, with one person apologizing for being surprised and another joking about their aura. The mood is playful and friendly.

📝 Transcription

[Coughing] [Laughing] I'm sorry. by surprise. Hello. Sorry, you just shocked me a little bit. That's okay. Oh I do that sometimes. That's my aura. Sort of around me. How are you doing? I gotta go. Noo, don't go. Oh! That was too much?

🌍 Translation

[Coughing] [Laughing] I'm sorry. By surprise. Hello. Sorry, you just shocked me a little bit. That's okay. Oh, I do that sometimes. That's my aura. Sort of around me. How are you doing? I gotta go. No, don't go. Oh! That was too much?

📚 Vocabulary

Word	Pronunciation	M
surprise	sur-praiz	su
aura	aw-rah	au
shocked	shokt	sh

Hello. Sorry, you just shocked me a little bit. That's okay. Oh, I do that sometimes. That's my aura. Sort of around me. How are you doing? I gotta go. No, don't go. Oh! That was too much?

📚 Vocabulary

Meaning	Explanation
surprise	Used as a noun to describe an unexpected event or feeling.
aura	Refers to a distinctive atmosphere or quality that seems to surround a person.
shocked	Past tense verb meaning to be startled or surprised suddenly.
doing	Present participle of 'do,' used in the question 'How are you doing?'
got to	Informal contraction meaning 'have to.'
No	An elongated form of 'no,' expressing protest or disappointment.

📐 Grammar

Present Simple

Used for general statements, habits, or facts

disappointment.

📐 Grammar

Present Simple

Used for general statements, habits, or facts.

- That's my aura. (That is my aura.)
- How are you doing? (How are you doing?)

Present Continuous

Used for actions happening right now.

- How are you doing? (How are you doing?)
- I'm sorry. (I am sorry.)

Past Simple

Used for actions completed in the past.

- You just shocked me. (You just shocked me.)
- That was too much? (That was too much?)

👤 Pronoun

"I" — self-referring

Used by the speaker to refer to themselves when expressing feelings or actions.

- I'm sorry. (I am sorry.)
- I gotta go. (I have to go.)

👤 Pronoun

"I" — self-referring

Used by the speaker to refer to themselves when expressing feelings or actions.

- I'm sorry. (I am sorry.)
- I gotta go. (I have to go.)

"you" — addressing the listener

Used to refer directly to the other person in the conversation.

- You just shocked me a little bit. (You just shocked me a little bit.)
- How are you doing? (How are you doing?)

🔄 Conjugation

Form	Example
Present Simple	That's my aura.
Present Continuous	How are you doing?
Past Simple	You just shocked me.

"I" — self-referring

Used by the speaker to refer to themselves when expressing feelings or actions.

- I'm sorry. (I am sorry.)
- I gotta go. (I have to go.)

"you" — addressing the listener

Used to refer directly to the other person in the conversation.

- You just shocked me a little bit. (You just shocked me a little bit.)
- How are you doing? (How are you doing?)

🔄 Conjugation

Form	Example
Present Simple	That's my aura.
Present Continuous	How are you doing?
Past Simple	You just shocked me.

Done